Why are Professional Services Firms at Risk?

Smaller practices might assume they are too small to be of interest to cyber criminals. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Lawyers, investment advisors, financial planners, tax consultants, and broker-dealers are particularly vulnerable. They are the aggregators of sensitive client data and often lack the knowledge of how to protect this data. This makes them easy targets for cyber criminals.

Cyber criminals know that advisory firms rely on trust to maintain their client base, built up over years of hard work and some exploit this need for trust to extort their victims by mounting “ransomware” or “denial of service” attacks.

INCREASED RISK EXPOSURES FROM GDPR:

In addition to having to address cyber threats, the European General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) imposes a substantial compliance regime for both privacy and security. Professional services firms must understand their role as both data controller and processor under GDPR. Practice areas such as criminal law or healthcare may require additional protections beyond the usual privacy notices, consent processing and data subject access requests. Using CyberGaps™ and our GDPR offerings, we help IR Global members reduce cyber risk and become GDPR compliant.

WHERE DO YOU STAND?

To provide members with a rapid assessment of their cyber security and privacy posture, eosedge Legal has designed a concise and effective cyber assessment specifically for professional service firms called CyberGaps™. Using mathematical effectiveness scoring, CyberGaps™ identifies and prioritizes risk reduction decisions that are reasonable and defensible. It is a way to demonstrate that you are taking competent and reasonable measures to safeguard your firm’s and your clients’ data. It allows you to gain situational awareness, pinpoint high-risk areas, assess your preparedness, identify gaps in your defence, plan counter-measures and prioritize your security investments.

THE ASSESSMENT CONSISTS OF THREE QUESTIONNAIRES:

1. To assess your inherent cyber risk
2. To assess the maturity of your cyber defences
3. To assess your compliance with GDPR (optional)

eosedge Legal consultants work with you and your IT Providers to complete the questionnaires, evaluate the results and establish a plan to address gaps.

Assistance can be provided remotely (five 60 to 90 minute conference calls) or on-site (one day). The results can be protected from future litigation under eosedge Legal’s “cloaking” option. Including planning and reporting the entire process takes several weeks. CyberGaps™ assessments start at $5,500 depending on the number of employees your firm has. The GDPR and cloaking options cost an additional $1,500 each.

Free 30 minute consultation for IR Members

To help our members evaluate the concise cyber audit, eosedge Legal is happy to provide a free 30 minute consultation by phone. This discussion can help you determine how the cyber audit can be used to reduce your exposure.
